Palace Hotel Tokyo Invites Discovery with “Discerning Tokyo”

A five-star achievement, five crowning values and a five-year anniversary inspire the first of five new packages

TOKYO (May 18, 2016) — Palace Hotel Tokyo is celebrating the finer things in life this May with a new package crafted for seekers of a sophisticated stay experience.

The “Discerning Tokyo” getaway highlights world-class offerings at the hotel while also introducing guests to the capital city’s imperial heritage. The experience includes:

- Two nights of accommodation in a Club Grand Deluxe or Club Deluxe with Balcony room
- An eight-course, signature, prix-fixe lunch for two at Crown accompanied by five wine pairings, served up by award-winning Chef Manabu Ichizuka.
- A JPY 10,000 credit with which to splurge on cocktails & canapés at Royal Bar, crafted by “World’s Best Bartender” winner Manabu Ohtake.
- A three-hour, privately guided “Astute Aesthetes” tour entirely tailored to each guest’s interests, with cultural options such as Akasaka Palace, which recently expanded its access to the public, as well as the majestic gardens that surround the home of Japan’s imperial family (and are conveniently located just across the moat from the hotel).

Situated on the sixth floor, Crown reveals sweeping views of the Imperial Palace gardens and moats, as well as Tokyo’s skyline. Though the view is distinctly Japanese, the menu is contemporary French, as Chef Ichizuka collaborates with Patrick Henriroux, grand chef of the two-starred La Pyramide in Vienne, France, on the restaurant’s concept and menus. Earlier this year Ichizuka won 2nd place in the prestigious Prosper Montagné 2016 competition, which stands as a testament to the three decades he has dedicated to mastering French culinary arts.

Several floors below Crown’s perch, in the hotel’s grand lobby, is the second highlight of the stay, Royal Bar. Last month, the intimate drinking spot was named on the inaugural “Asia’s 50 Best Bars” list, a collection by Drinks International. The bar is helmed by Manabu Ohtake, who in 2011 topped 10,000 competitors to be named “World’s Best Bartender” by leading alcohol purveyor Diageo.

Earlier this year, Forbes Travel Guide awarded Palace Hotel Tokyo its coveted Five-Star rating, the only independent Japanese brand ever to achieve such recognition. As the hotel approaches its fifth anniversary, it’s cultivating five bespoke stay experiences over the next year, with “Discerning Tokyo” as the first.

Each tailored package takes inspiration from one of the brand’s five core values, all of which are reflective of the guest experience Palace Hotel Tokyo aims to deliver. “Discerning Tokyo” celebrates the first core attribute, “Global Best”, which is indicative of the hotel’s undeniably high standards and salutes the numerous awards & accolades it has received.
